At the end of the semester, students can actually see all that has been learned over the course coming together. In the beginning, it is very hard to see that this will happen. Yet, miraculously the end of the semester brings every lesson together. Dr. Kuhn is very prompt in responding to students. He can always be reached by email is always willing to help students outside of class time. Other than this class being extremely difficult, I have enjoyed my time.

Dr. Kuhn knows the material extremely well and definitely makes the material clear.

There needs to be more hands on i this class, most people lean by doing and just listening to explanations of rules and formules.

This course effectively extended my knowledge of surveys and statistics. Though I am unable to recognize any immediate association (relationship) between stats and my liberal studies degree, I truly enjoyed the class and the instructor.
